Did you know that risky alcohol and substance use can impact your thinking patterns?

With your help, we can improve our understanding of how alcohol and substance use are linked to thinking problems, and how these change over your treatment.

Be part of it! Join CAMH's CDiA Project.

Get to know more about your own thinking – and help our researchers to improve policies and treatments to best support those in need.

What you do for science today, will keep changing people's lives from now on.

Here, and all over the world.
